Joint Panel Sets New Consideration Of Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When members of the special joint conference committee on state money matters returns to the bargaining table Tuesday, at least one new avenue of compromise will be available to them.

15 Persons Considered For Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal sources peg a woman judge and an Arkansas lawyer as frontrunners for nomination to the Supreme Court. But a high administration spokesman says at least 15 persons are under consideration.

Only six names have been submitted for examination by the American Bar Association, a move Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says will be made for any person he recommends.

Among those six are Herschel H. Friday, 46, a Little Rock municipal bond attorney, and Mildred L. Lillie, 56, a Los Angeles appellate court judge, who are said to be leading contenders to succeed Justice John H. Harlan and the late Justice Hugo L. Black.

But the high-level spokesman Thursday discounted reports the six are finalists in the search for two names President Nixon will send to the Senate for confirmation.

The spokesman said at least 15 persons are on the list, which may be expanded even further.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had said Thursday more than six are under consideration, but he refused to say how many.

The high-level administration spokesman who later spoke of 15 refused to be named.

Ohio Trees Don Colorful Foliage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Natural Resources Department suggests that Ohioans who want to see the colorful fall foliage plan visits to state forests during one of the last two weekends in October.

About 35 per cent of the leaves already have turned color in northern Ohio forests, the department says, while in the southern part of the state only about 10 per cent of the leaves have changed.

Thieu Plans To Ease Out Military Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense sources predict newly re-elected South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu will try to ease military men out of the government in a bid for broader support.

They said Thieu, who originally came to political power as an Army general, would have to move cautiously and slowly in "civilianizing" his regime lest he run the risk of a coup. Some Pentagon sources said about a dozen South Vietnamese generals hold the key.

Overall, Thieu is said to want to minimize the military role in civil affairs. This could mean a change in the present system under which Army officers serve as province and district chiefs.

Defense officials are concerned about political developments in South Vietnam because they are anxious for stability there as the United States withdraws from the long war.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird will discuss the political matters with Thieu when the Pentagon chief visits Vietnam for three or four days early next month.

In assessing the current military situation for President Nixon, prior to Nixon's next U.S. troop-pullback announcement in mid-November, Laird also will take a reading on Vietnamese political and economic problems.

One of the questions concerning U.S. officials is the future course of Thieu's main rival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. They said Ky is trying to form the nucleus of a party, using students and disabled war veterans, to keep things stirred up against Thieu.

Ready Defense For Henderson

Prosecution Near End Of Testimony

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The prosecution has nearly completed its case against Col. Oran K. Henderson with testimony from the former commander of the Americal Division that Henderson never reported a massacre at My Lai.

The final government witness in the drawn-out court-martial will be called Monday. The jury was excused today while attorneys worked on documents to be submitted as evidence.

Henderson, 51, is charged with concealing the slaying of civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai by failing to report allegations of war crimes, conducting improper investigations and lying to an Army probe.

Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Koeter, who was censured and demoted because of My Lai, testified Thursday that Henderson told him on at least two occasions that only 20 civilians died in an infantry sweep through My Lai March 16, 1968, and that those casualties were caused by artillery, gunships and small arms.

"Did Col. Henderson ever tell you that a pilot believed all the bodies he'd seen were civilians and in excess of 100?" Koster was asked by Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor, the prosecutor.

"No," said the general.

"Did Col. Henderson ever tell you that the pilot reported seeing a ditch filled with bodies?"

"No."

"I accepted his report," Koster said. "I thought he had brought all the facts to me. He indicated the casualties were caused by a contested combat operation and, that while he wasn't closing the case as such, he didn't feel further investigation was warranted."

calls "computerized polemics." A train of events beginning July 15 has led some observers to the conclusion that the conference has been upstaged.

On that day President Nixon announced he would go to Peking before next May. Two weeks later, Hanoi Politburo member Le Duc Tho returned home from Paris, where he had been "advising" the North Vietnamese delegation to the talks.

Believe Nixon's China Trip Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — If history is any guide, President Nixon's history-making journey to Peking will take place within the next six weeks.

The White House announced Thursday that Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the chief executive's foreign policy aide, will leave here Saturday on a 10-day mission to mainland China during which he and government specialists will make final preparations for the Nixon visit.

In the past, advance trips of this type normally have preceded presidential journeys by, at most, a few weeks.

Nixon must be in Washington in early November to greet India's prime minister, Indira Gandhi. He also has a Nov. 9 commitment to attend one of nearly two dozen Republican fund-raising dinners to be held around the country.

As of now, Nixon's public schedule after Nov. 9 is blank. Precedents would point strongly toward a China visit later next month. However, no American president ever has gone to the Chinese mainland and, after nearly a quarter century of only roundabout contact between the two countries, past practices might prove deceiving in this case.

Kissinger is due back in the United States about Oct. 25 and has said an announcement of dates for the Nixon trip will follow soon thereafter.

The presidential aide and his group, flying aboard a presidential jet commanded by Col. Ralph D. Albertazzie, Nixon's personal pilot, will make a 48-hour stop at a resort hotel in Hilo, Hawaii, en route to China.

Nixon also is expected to pause for about two days on his

Circleville Boy 'Critical' After Traffic Accident

A 15-year-old Circleville boy is in "critical" condition in University Hospital, Columbus, as a result of one of four injury accidents investigated by Circleville police Thursday. Ten persons were injured and three cited in the four mishaps.

Lee Alspaugh, 143 Griner Ave., suffered a compound fracture of the leg, a fractured pelvis and possible broken neck when he was struck by a car and motorcycle 7:48 p.m. in front of 217 Nicholas Drive.

According to the police report, the boy was attempting to cross Nicholas Drive when he was hit by a northbound car driven by Amos Gentzel Valentine, 58, Stoutsville.

Alspaugh was hurled 65-feet by the impact into the path of a southbound motorcycle driven by Donald Fay Benner, 22, Route 5, which also struck him.

BENNER suffered cuts and scratches and a passenger on the cycle, Bill Benner, 14, Route 5, injured his knee when Benner ditched the cycle in an attempt to avoid hitting Alspaugh.

All three were taken to Berger Hospital where Alspaugh was transferred to University Hospital.

Valentine failed to stop after the accident but an investigation by city police resulted in his apprehension later Thursday night.

Valentine was cited for leaving the scene of an accident and his case has been continued until Nov. 4. He is free on $500 bond.

A two-car accident 11:51 a.m. on E. Main St., in front of the Eagle Lodge, resulted in John A. Martindill, 75, Williamsport, being cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Violet L. Parsons, 34, Kingston, suffered chest, neck and back injuries and passengers, Margaret Johnson, 55, Laurelville and Kimberli Parsons, 13, Kingston, both received back injuries when her auto was struck in the rear by the Martindill car as she was attempting

Israelis May Receive More U.S. Planes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says the United States will have to reconsider its military commitments to Israel because of the Soviet promise of more military aid to Egypt.

Rogers conferred for an hour Thursday with Foreign Minister Abba Eban. The Israeli said afterward he put "great emphasis" on Israel's request for more U.S. planes.

Warplane shipments are reported to have halted last July at the expiration of the contract. The Israelis especially want more Phantom jet fighter-bombers.

The Soviet pledge was issued Wednesday night after President Anwar Sadat of Egypt wound up two days of meetings with Soviet leaders in Moscow. A Soviet-Egyptian communique said the two sides agreed "on measures aimed at further strengthening the military might of Egypt."

Noting the pledge, Rogers told newsmen after his meeting with Eban: "In view of that, we will have to carefully consider our position, particularly in the light of President Nixon's commitment when he said that the military balance in the Middle East will not change."

A U.S. official told newsmen the Soviet promise prompted an "active" review of the Israeli request for more warplanes and that the review would begin "pretty promptly."

Eban said most of his discussion with Rogers was devoted to the U.S. proposal for an interim agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

"I understand the United States is maintaining and expects to intensify its exploration of the possibilities of a Suez Canal agreement," said Eban.

Meanwhile in Washington, 76 senators have signed a resolution urging President Nixon to act "without further delay" to resume shipment of F4 Phantom jets to Israel.

School Lunch Program Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty-nine senators asked President Nixon today to stop the Agriculture Department from setting "unlawful" guidelines which, they estimated, would cut more than one million children from the federal school-lunch program.

It was the second time in four weeks that a large group of senators has asked the President to step into the continuing dispute over how much money should be spent on the program that helps feed an estimated 7.3 million school children.

Nixon did not agree to intervene when he was asked to by 44 senators several weeks ago. Two weeks later, however, the protested guidelines were reviewed — and the new ones promptly ran into a new storm of protest.

The 59 sent a letter to the President just hours after the House Education and Labor Committee, in a rebuke to the Agriculture Department, unanimously approved a bill to stop the proposed new guidelines.

The controversy over school lunch has raged since mid-August when, only three weeks before many schools were scheduled to open, the department set new limits on how much federal help states would get for their lunch programs.

Last year the federal government paid on a sliding scale that ranged as high as 60 cents for each lunch served free or at a reduced price to needy children.

The August guidelines, guaranteed 35 cents for such lunches. The guidelines were denounced as inadequate by 33 state school-lunch directors, who said states would be forced to cut back their school-lunch programs.

By deciding to go to Peking and Moscow.

Some observers detected concern among the Vietnamese Communist delegates that Nixon will attempt to make a deal with Moscow and Peking over the heads of Hanoi and the Viet Cong. This is despite continuing verbal and material support for the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong by their two top allies.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter seemed to be trying to fire up this real or imagined fear of the Vietnamese Communists Thursday. He told news-

Agnew Meets Selassie, Constantine

PERSEPOLIS, Iran (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, on the eve of an official visit to Athens, conferred for 70 minutes today with the exiled monarch of Greece, King Constantine II.

The vice president declined to say whether he had gained any information to be relayed to the Greek government of Prime Minister George Papadopoulos.

Agnew would not discuss the substance of his conversation with the exiled Greek ruler. As he strolled from his beige and blue tent at the Persian anniversary celebration, Agnew remarked only that the meeting "was very cordial and very informative." Constantine left Greece for exile in Italy nearly four years ago.

Agnew also met for more than an hour with Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia who has just visited Communist China, but would not say what was discussed. The ruler's Peking trip was a likely topic in view of President Nixon's plans to visit Red China. The emperor had met top Chinese rulers, including Premier Chou En-lai and Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

"It was very helpful and useful meeting," Agnew said of his talk with the Ethiopian. "He discussed certain matters with me that will be of interest to President Nixon."

The vice president has been talking with a procession of world leaders at the 2,500th anniversary encampment here near the ancient Persian ruins of Persepolis.

Teacher Incentive Pay Eyed

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federally-financed project to pay teachers more money if their students get better grades today awaited approval by the U.S. Department of Education, a Cincinnati School official said.

The Cincinnati School Board has rejected part of the plan that would pay parents of students who do better.

"The board rejected that part of the program on moral and ethical grounds," said Dr. James Jacobs, research director of Cincinnati schools. "They felt the parents are always obligated to see that their children do the best they can."

Garfield School with 540 pupils was selected for the program with Cummins School as "control group." Garfield's progress would be compared to Cummins' student grades to determine whether incentive pay for teachers helps pupils do better, he said.

Cost of the program was estimated at $84,000 with $50,000 going directly to the school system. Two Washington consulting firms, Turnkey Corp. and Planar Corp., would oversee the program's test results, said Jacobs.

If the pupils score better in reading and arithmetic, teachers could be paid $150 per month extra for four months of the experiment.

Damage Heavy In Both Blasts; No Link Seen

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A bomb explosion early today at Massachusetts Institute of Technology did "extensive damage" to the fourth floor of the Grover Hermann Building which houses the institute's Center for International Studies.

No one was in the building when the bomb went off, campus police said, and no injuries were reported.

Daniel Ellsberg, a part-time associate at the center who said he leaked the Pentagon Papers to the press, has an office on the fourth floor. His office was not damaged.

The bomb was planted in a ladies room and did extensive damage to several offices across the hall, police said.

Editors at the Boston Record American said they received a call from a woman who said a bomb would go off. The newspaper notified Cambridge police who arrived at the building just as the bomb exploded.

The building houses several other schools besides the studies center.

A bomb explosion last year heavily damaged Harvard University's School for International Studies.

Teach-In Being Held At Capital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Teachers, mostly from the Yellow Springs area, marched on the Statehouse today, to show "disgust" for legislative delays on a permanent budget-tax bill.

Robert Tripp, social studies teacher at Yellow Springs High School, said he expected the teach-in to draw 200 to 1,000 teachers. Earlier reports indicated up to 1,500 were expected.

Only about 75 were on hand at mid-morning on the west steps of the Statehouse.

"We're pretty disgusted that the legislature hasn't acted," Tripp said. "I just can't believe they will set back and let our schools close."

The Yellow Springs teachers brought with them a giant cardboard apple they said they would present the legislature, which is in recess for the week-end.

Tripp said they would also make "a flickle finger of finance award" during the teach-in.

The demonstrators all wore arm bands emblazoned with "SST." The initials stand for "Save Schools Today."

Inflation Worries Ohioans Most

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans have indicated in a recent survey by Sen. William B. Saxbe that inflation ranks number one as today's most pressing problem.

More than 35,000 persons from all parts of the state responded to the senator's questionnaire. Beyond inflation, "the problems bothering you the most" were listed in importance, unemployment, drug control and pollution.

U.S. Jets Hit Red Guns In North Vietnamese Strike

SAIGON (AP) — An anti-aircraft battery fired on a U.S. reconnaissance plane over North Vietnam Thursday, and one of the plane's escorting fighter-bombers attacked the enemy guns, the U.S. Command reported today.

A spokesman, Capt. James d'Entremont, said the fire did not hit the unarmed reconnaissance plane or the two escorting Phantoms, and the results of the escort's attack were not known.

The action occurred 95 miles north of the demilitarized zone and 10 miles east of the Laotian border, farther inside North Vietnam than most such U.S.

Communist exchanges reported this year.

It was the 67th "protective reaction" attack by U.S. planes over North Vietnam this year.

In South Vietnam and along the Cambodian border, ground fighting was limited to small-scale skirmishing, according to official reports.

However, military sources reported that an American adviser, a South Vietnamese district chief and a company commander were among nine persons killed in a Viet Cong ambush in the Mekong Delta early Thursday.

The Viet Cong ambushed a company of militia and combat police who were rushing to reinforce a militia outpost under attack in Kien Thien, about 115 miles south of Saigon.

Two militiamen were killed and two were wounded at the outpost, and four of the reinforcements were wounded in addition to the nine killed. Enemy casualties were not known.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported another small but sharp fight Thursday in the U Minh forest 145 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. The South Vietnamese reported 23 enemy troops killed and said six of their own men were wounded.

The action was the fourth of such size this week reported in the U Minh forest, where the South Vietnamese 21st Division has been trying to dislodge Communist troops for nearly a year.

Thieves Get $630 In Merchandise From Rural Home

An estimated $630 worth of merchandise was stolen from the Marty Wippel residence, Route 1, Ashville, between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Thursday, according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's report.

Thieves gained entrance to the house by smashing a window with a pop bottle. Deputy James Deal, investigating officer, said the thieves took a color television set, an AM-FM clock radio, an AM-FM portable shortwave radio, an AM-FM transistor radio and two wrist watches.

Two Fire Alarms Are Answered

Thursday two fire alarms were received by Circleville Fire Department, one in a dryer and one at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Shortly after noon yesterday, the fire force was called to the Price residence at 205 Meadow Drive where lint had been ignited in an electric dryer causing $15 damage.

At 6:15 p.m., some straw in a stall of a horse barn at the Fairgrounds caught fire and was extinguished by the firemen.

Senate Prodded To Pass New Consumer Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer aide, pointing to the House seal of approval, is recommending that the Senate buy a consumer-protection plan containing what promoters promise will be a triple treat for the public.

But consumer advocate Ralph Nader's hard-core House loyalists, falling Thursday in their widely advertised attempt to expand the scope of a proposed new consumer-protection agency's activities, urged their Senate sympathizers to inspect the fine print in the legislative product.

The House's 344-44 passage of the bill essentially in the same form offered by the Government Operations Committee was applauded by Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant for consumer affairs, as "an important victory for all consumers."

"This landmark legislation... will provide the consumer effective representation on matters that affect his health, his safety and his pocketbook. The wide margin of support reflects the judgment of the House that the committee bill is a strong measure and refutes the contrary claims of the few remaining critics," Mrs. Knauer said.

But Nader said the House action means no strong bill will be passed by Congress this year. Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., leader of the Nader forces, called the legislation a skillfully designed deception. "Mediocrity and compromise won out over excellence and courage," Rosenthal said. "It was a victory for the Nixon administration and anticongress special interests."

Holifield, D-Calif., upheld on all controversial issues in his frequently bitter arguments with those who sought to either strengthen or weaken his panel's bill, insisted the legislation is effective and balanced by safeguards.

The bill is a three-part affair—creating a new consumer-protection agency, giving legal underpinning to the White House's Office of Consumer Affairs, and setting up a 15-member consumer advisory council. The new agency would represent consumers in actions conducted by other federal agencies and—in certain circumstances—before the courts.

Similar legislation passed the Senate last year but died on a tie vote in the House Rules Committee.

The bill is "for consumer advocacy. It does not set up another regulatory agency," Holifield said. "The bill is designed to insure that the consumer's voice will be heard, and his interests protected, in proceedings before the existing regulatory agencies."

U.S. Lifts Tax Surcharge On Noncotton Textiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that the United States is lifting the 10 per cent surcharge on noncotton textile imports. It said agreement has been reached with Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong to restrain the flow of textiles sent here.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced that U.S. Ambassador David M. Kennedy signed a memorandum of understanding with Japan today and will sign a similar agreement with South Korea in Seoul tomorrow.

The agreement with Taiwan has already been concluded and the Hong Kong delegation is signing its agreement here later today.

Presidential economic adviser Peter Peterson said that the surcharge is being lifted with regard to noncotton textiles imported from all countries. The four Asian producers are the major providers of textiles in the United States.

All of the agreements go into effect retroactively as of Oct. 1. The agreement with Japan will run for three years with consultations for renewing for an additional two years and the other countries will be under restraints for five years.

It marks the end of a three-year effort by the Nixon administration to curb the flow of synthetic and woolen textiles to the United States.

Intensive efforts have been underway to reach the restraint agreement by today—the deadline set by President Nixon for imposition of quotas on imports if no agreement had been reached.

Textiles are one of the areas in which the United States has run its heaviest trade deficits.

True Love Overcomes Obstacles

LEEDS, England (AP) — Northern Ireland's religious war was blighting the romance of two teen-agers so they eloped to England and stole to eat.

"They are Romeo and Juliet, 1971 style," defense lawyer Malcolm Sorkin told a local court Thursday as it considered shoplifting charges against Deborah Dowe, a 16-year-old Protestant, and William Steel, a 19-year-old Roman Catholic.

Sorkin said that because of the religious difference, their parents had forbidden them to see each other. Two weeks after they fled from Belfast to England, they ran out of food and stole from a supermarket.

"They have acted with the same immaturity of their historical counterparts," said Sorkin.

Judge Sir John Randolph discharged the pair, commenting: "The best place for each of you is back home."

Bible College Offers Speed Reading Class

A speed reading course, known as Achieving Greater Potential in Reading (A.G.P.), will be offered here in Circleville at the Circleville Bible College beginning 7 p.m. Monday.

The instructor has been specially trained and is qualified to handle the course which is now required of all students entering the college.

Basically, these courses are much alike and are founded on well-established principles. The average reader can generally out-strip his counterpart if given the opportunity to participate in a reading course designed to increase both reading and comprehension. In many instances corporations and companies either pay tuition or bring in an instructor for a series of lessons, believing that the investment will be returned through added efficiency of its personnel.

Although speed is a vital factor in reading, it is not the only factor in good reading.

Therefore, attention will be given to other matters in an effort to develop the true potential of the reader.

Registration can be worked out with the college beforehand, or it may be handled on the first evening. Details are available by calling the business office of the college at 474-8897. Place — Circleville Bible College, Academic Building, Room 6; date — October 18 - November 8 (Monday evenings only); time — 7 to 9 p.m.

The force of the blast knocked out windows in homes two blocks away.

Investigators probing the devastated building, police Inspector Theodore Peck said, "are pretty well certain it was a bomb."

The blast apparently occurred in the consulate's basement, the chief said. Officials of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. who visited the scene said they found no evidence of a gas leak.

Calden estimates structural damage alone at $100,000. The consulate is in the exclusive Presidio Heights residential section in northwest San Francisco.

In the past, the consulate has been picketed by dissidents protesting policies of the Shah of Iran.

Iranian Consul General Parviz Adle told newsmen he had no comment on the explosion.

Pentagon Plans To Evade Senate Curbs On Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The U.S. Army plans to get around the Cooper-Church amendment's ban on American military men in Cambodia by hiring $200,000 worth of foreigners for noncombat work, American officials report.

"They are people who can do under contract what we are forbidden to do," a U.S. source declared. Another source said they would be cheaper than American civilians.

Cooper-Church, passed by Congress last year, bars American military advisers, training personnel and combat troops from Cambodia soil.

The sources said the foreigners, known in official circles as "third country nationals," would supplement the American military equipment team which is responsible for handing over arms and ammunition to the Cambodians but is forbidden to show the Cambodians how to use the equipment.

Headed by Brig. Gen. Theodore Matisia, the team's current strength is 113 men, with 50 officers and enlisted men assigned to the Cambodian capital and the rest in Saigon.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Thursday voted to limit to 50 the number of foreigners hired in Cambodia. Most likely they will be Koreans, Nationalist Chinese, Australians or New Zealanders experienced in dealing with the American military in South Vietnam or Laos, where some have been engaged in hazardous undercover work for the Americans.

The $200 million U.S. military assistance program for fiscal 1972, which is now the subject of congressional hearings, includes "a line" for third country nationals, a source said. He added that salaries for foreigners in Cambodia might total $200,000 a year.

The foreigners would be employed in supply depots and maintenance shops behind front lines, although the sources did not rule out an eventual role as combat advisers.

The sources said the use of foreigners had been recommended by teams of military experts who visited Cambodia to study supply snarls.

The sources noted that a handful of foreigners are already being paid by the American military assistance program to Cambodia. They include about 10 Air America maintenance crewmen who keep Cambodia's T28 fighter-bombers flying a representative from Bell Helicopters and three Filipinos brought here from Laos to set up an English language school.

NEW YORK (AP) — New television series often have their greatest difficulties in getting started. Sometimes one must kick off with a certain show because it sets the scene and introduces the people—and often it is one of the least engaging of the lot. In other cases—usually involving action and adventure series—the initial program is picked as the most exciting on hand.

Sometimes a series that looks dreary and maladroit at launching, picks up steam and better scripts as it moves along.

Not always. "Bearcats," CBS's Wild West series, does not seem to improve with age. The year is 1915 and there are more model T's than horses and more jaunty straw boaters than 10-gallon hats to be seen but it remains a tedious hour with completely predictable plot turns. Worst of all, it assumes a jaunty air that just doesn't come off.

The story Thursday night involved a small town captured by a band of desperados. Their evil leader offered to release the village priest if the remaining townsmen built a gallows. His old daddy had been hanged there five years before for a killing and the leader was bent on revenge.

Hank and Johnny—Rod Taylor and Dennis Cole—strutted around for most of the hour and finally set a big explosion under the gallows, sprayed machine-gun bullets around, captured the villains and freed the priest. The idea of an adventurer for hire was carried off with considerable elan in "Have Gun, Will Travel." This one seeks to substitute 59-year-old props, mostly old cars and armaments, for a good story.

"Bearcats" has some tough competition, including another Western about a pair of jaunty adventurers, ABC's "Alias Smith and Jones." And Flip Wilson's program on NBC has an audience almost as big as the two rival series together.

ABC's "Longstreet," on the other hand, started with a violent, painful episode but now seems to have simmered down into an interesting detective series. The blind sleuth, played most effectively by James Franciscus, on Thursday was solving the puzzle of the theft of two horns once owned by a famous Dixieland musician. The theft was complicated by the murder of an officer in a jazz buffs' society.

Since "Longstreet" is set in New Orleans, the nightclub scenes were logical and the excellent music provided pleasant interlude. And Franciscus' sympathetic portrayal of a blind man makes the hour several cuts above the usual whodunit.

The "flying foxes" of Tonga Islands actually are cat-sized fruit bats that often raid mango groves at night.

Youth Sought In Cincy Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 19-year-old Queen City youth was being sought Thursday on a first-degree murder warrant in the fatal shooting Saturday of Cincinnati fireman Edwin Reisinger Jr.

The warrant was issued Wednesday night against James Truitt followed the arrest earlier of five men. They were taken into custody for investigation of the murder, but had not been charged.

Reisinger, 28, was found shot to death in a park in the Avondale section. The body was partially clothed. Reisinger was off duty when he was shot.

Airline Hit On Marshall Jet Crash

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The fathers of three Marshall University football players killed in last year's 75-death plane crash at Huntington, W. Va.'s Tri-State Airport have charged that Southern Airways violated its promise to Marshall when a crew that had never flown into the airport was used on the ill-fated DC-9 jetliner.

In a recent letter to John J. Reed, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, the three Cincinnati men referred to a letter from Southern to the late Charles Kautz, MU athletic director, which states:

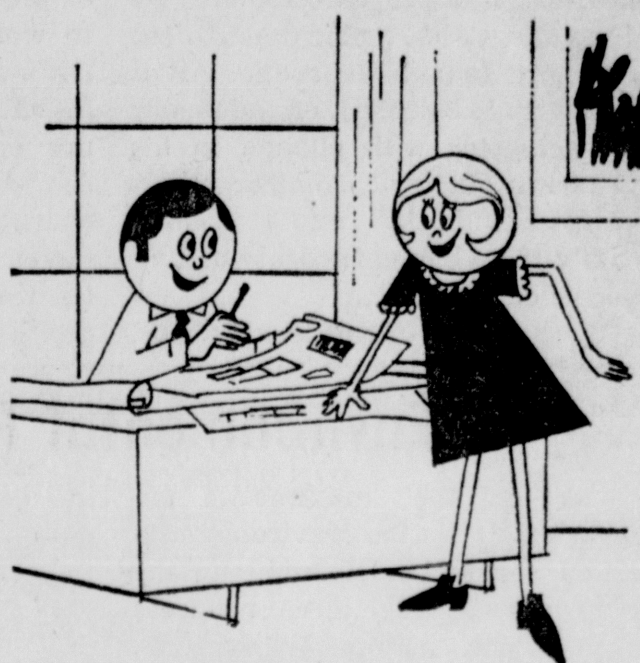

"The flight equipment and crews operating our charter flights are indeed the same crews and equipment used on our scheduled services. We do not maintain separate aircraft fleets nor separate crew requirements."

The three fathers, Robert A. Harris Sr., Raeburn Andrews and John A. Repasy, said in the letter to Reed that Southern Airways requires for its scheduled services "that a pilot cannot take payoffs into an airport as a pilot unless he has been into the airport as a co-pilot three times."

The three told Reed that neither the pilot nor any member of the crew aboard the tragic Marshall flight had ever landed at the airport before. The Nov. 14 crash claimed the lives of most of Marshall's football squad and coaching staff, including many school officials and athletic boosters.

One Way To Help

The idea that what an unhappy child needs most to restore his self-confidence is a job has turned a local California job agency for kids into an activity being emulated by police departments and community groups throughout the United States.

Rent-A-Kid is a program founded by the Montclair, Calif., police department a little more than a year ago. All it does is live up to its name, on the theory that a youngster with change in his pocket is less likely to steal or otherwise get himself into trouble. Especially if he has earned his money at labor he can handle.

That's what Rent-A-Kid is all about.

Finding part-time jobs for youngsters from 10 to 21. It may not sound like a big deal, but when properly organized it can keep a lot of kids out of trouble, as the Montclair project has shown.

Both children who have run afoul of the law and those who simply want to work are enlisted in the program. As jobs — anything from baby-sitting to hauling trash — are offered, they are assigned by a counseling center. As one counselor summed up the operation's success: "A kid might never tell you he has a problem, but he won't hesitate to say he needs a job."

Environmental Progress

Because of the mammoth undertaking faced by the Environmental Protection Agency in cleaning up the nation's waterways, the initial progress made is worth noting. William D. Ruckelshaus, head of the environmental agency, reports more than 18,000 industrial establishments have applied for permits to discharge liquid wastes into waterways, under the new federal licensing program.

Ruckelshaus estimates these firms include more than 95 per cent of the major polluters in the nation. The interesting part of this law, which became effective July 1, is that it merely sets up enforcement proceedings for an act which has been in effect since 1899, and almost universally ignored.

The 1899 law provides the Army Corps of Engineers with licensing authority over any enterprise discharging wastes into streams and rivers. The corps is now charged with reviewing applicants for conformity with established standards.

Identifying the source and type of pollutant is the first step toward elimination and control. That step, as Ruckelshaus confirms, is well along. The next step will be to bring into line a majority of those firms which have not yet conformed to the standards.

Variety Of Machines Speed Handling Of News In Future

The mechanics of gathering and distributing news are changing rapidly. In the following article I. William Hill, chairman of the New Technology Committee of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association and Associate Editor of The Washington Star, discusses some projects for the future.

By I. WILLIAM HILL

For the benefit of their readers, newspaper editors these days are taking giant steps into an area that, for them, is as exotic as the moon.

I. WILLIAM HILL

They are entering a bewildering world they've always left to production experts. It's a world of fast-light computers, fast-as-thought cathode ray tubes and fast-as-mind optical character readers. It's a world they know they have to face if they're to protect their readers in a life that's always accelerating.

It's only in the past few years that science has invaded the newsroom, not always with a welcome. Some standpat editors scowl at the impersonal invader and groan "Oh, no!" At the same time, just behind them, stand young-in-spirit editors ready with a "Wow!" All the while, however, even the standpatters have begun to sense that newsroom practices are changing at a rate that guarantees more change in the next 10 years than in the last 100.

They've all had to realize the time spirit is one of acceleration. It took four months for word of the South's Civil War surrender to reach her last combatant ship. But, when President Kennedy was assassinated, most of the world knew it almost immediately. Even the most conservative editor will admit the day of the quill pen flourished and died. What he was to face now is the fact the same thing can happen to his typewriter.

To prepare for tomorrow's newspapers, more than 110 editors from all over the country have accepted an invitation by the New Technology Committee of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association to get together Oct. 18, 1971, and pool their technological knowledge. On that date, an all-day seminar is planned at Philadelphia's Bellevue Stratford Hotel as a preliminary to the annual APME Convention, Oct. 19-22.

Not quite three years old, the New Technology Committee, composed of 40 editors, has already developed some firm ideas. Most of them believe, for example, that the newspaper of the year 2000 will resemble today's newspaper but it will be prepared, printed and distributed by entirely different processes.

Members of the committee are free with their long-range predictions also. Here are some of them:

1. Instead of files containing photographs and negatives, pictures will be stored and kept instantly retrievable in a computer.

2. A world - of - tomorrow typewriter will listen to what a reporter says and simultaneously will write it down. (This, incidentally, is the technology most of the committee most desire. Already of course, a German university has devised a phonetic typewriter with no keyboard, only a microphone, but so far it can only type the numbers from one to nine).

3. A computer will be programmed to edit a story to any desired length. (Already a start on this has been made in the ANPAT project at the Research Center of the American Newspaper Publishers Association).

4. Newspapers eventually will be delivered into the home by facsimile or on the TV-like screen of a video display terminal.

5. The editor, instead of burrowing through 50,000 words of daily Associated Press copy or more to find the 7500 words he'll probably use, will have a printout index of stories in electronic storage and, typing at his video display terminal, he'll order print-out of only the stories he wants.

6. Self-designed newspapers made possible by computer storage of each reader's interest profile, with machines scanning all media to be able to notify each reader of anything anywhere in his field of interest — either by facsimile or a TV-like display.

Speed, speed and more speed is obviously the key theme in every prediction. In newspaper making, science is the handmaiden of speed. In "Gulliver's Travels," Jonathan Swift described science as "extracting sunbeams out of cucumbers."

APME's New Technology Committee, acutely aware of the time cry for speed, has its own version:

"Twas easy when, reporting news,

To take an hour was prime. Now news is due Before it's through. We've done away with time.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tired of your job?

Find it too boring? Too difficult? Too unrewarding?

Well, before you drop it for another one, better take a long look around. You might be jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

A lot of jobs that look plushy from a distance turn out to be frayed around the edges on closer inspection. They, too, can be too routine, too demanding, too adventurous or even too lonely.

How many of us, for example, would want to be elected pope or president of the United States, burdened with the awesome decisions of pomp and power such high offices require? Who even would want to be king or queen of England and have to spend his days cutting ribbons at such functions as the opening of the new gasworks at Chitterington-on-Thames?

Here are a few other types of jobs most of us might want to avoid:

Official stamp glue taster for the U.S. Post Office.

Brass polisher at the Pentagon. No overtime pay.

Cleanup man at the National Horse Show.

Stand-in for the wild animal trainer who sticks his head in the lion's mouth.

Cheerleader for the Vietnamese war.

Chief counter in a sardine factory.

Mirage inspector in the Sahara Desert.

Night watchman in northern Alaska during the winter season.

Clerk in the exchange department of any department store the day after Christmas.

Cloak buyer for the Ku Klux Klan.

Personnel director for the Mafia.

Bulb changer for the Northern Lights.

Window washer for the Empire State Building on a windy day.

Computer operator in charge of keeping the list of Democratic aspirants for the presidency up-to-date.

A wholesale turkey salesman the morning after Thanksgiving Day.

Ghostwriter for Milton Berle. Talent agent for the stars in a wax museum.

Custard pie tester for a television comedy show.

Chef at a banquet honoring Dracula.

Yep, it's better to take a real good look around before changing jobs now. You may be lucky to have the one you've got.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What is the cause of sudden painful redness of the tongue? It happens every few weeks. Could it be a vitamin deficiency?

Mrs. S.R.E. Can. Dear Mrs. E.: The fact the condition comes and goes speaks against the possibility of vitamin deficiency causing your trouble.

A frequently overlooked reason is that many people actually burn the surface of the tongue and palate with soups, coffee and food that is far hotter than the delicate tissues can tolerate.

There are many other reasons for "glossitis," an infection or irritation of the tongue.

Excessive use of tobacco, especially hot pipes, poorly fitting dentures and jagged teeth edges can irritate the tongue.

The tongue has long been considered the mirror of the general condition of the body.

It does reflect deficiencies in vitamins, certain types of anemia, fungus infections, reaction to long use of antibiotics, and allergic reactions.

Many diseases, far removed from the mouth, show changes in the tongue that are very important to the doctor. That is why the tongue is so often the first organ to be examined by him.

Your story does not seem to be one of concern, but should be checked for possible underlying causes.

Sometimes you refer to a condition as arteriosclerosis. Is this the same as arteriosclerosis, or is it a misprint?

Mr. L.T. Wisconsin. Dear Mr. T.: Arteriosclerosis and arteriosclerosis are very closely related, but are different technically.

Arteriosclerosis is a general term for narrowing of the arteries and their loss of elasticity.

These changes are most often the result of the general process of aging, and therefore occur most often in the elderly.

Arteriosclerosis can be considered a form of arteriosclerosis that occurs in relatively younger people and probably is a factor in coronary heart attacks.

This form is thought to be metabolic in origin, in other words, related to high fat diets, and increased cholesterol in the blood.

Much scientific work has shown the positive relationship between diet, obesity and arteriosclerosis. There are other causes, of course.

Burglars entered the old Home and Hospital on W. Ohio St. and made off with three blankets and a doll.

As a publicity promotion, Mason's Furniture took aerial photographs of a number of Pickaway County farms which they ran in their weekly ads. If the owner could correctly identify his farm, he received a mounted photo from the store.

City Council was pushing forward its "Garbage ordinance" which provided for a sanitary landfill and city trash collection. In this way, the smoky city dump would be eliminated.

A 30-year-old New Jersey man entered the farm home of Cliff Miller when no one was home, made himself a meal and lounged before the television set. When Miller caught the man in his home, he pretended he was a friend of the owners, and left the house. He sought the aid of a 74-year-old farm employee to watch the house while he contacted the sheriff. The New Jersey man was shot and injured by the farmhand after he fired at the old man.

Rock Artists Find Hit In Jesus

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway and the rock artists have found a new hit in Jesus.
Besides the wave of pop songs about him, he's now the center of two current theatrical attractions, the crowd-pulling musical comedy, "Godspell," and the newly opened rock opera "Jesus Christ Superstar."
In both cases, the presentations offer vivid glimpses of the man, and his magnetism, but not much of the mystery. In the end of both, he's dead, with only orchestrated intimations of anything beyond that.

Both have caught on strongly, on record, with young people—both in the churches and outside them—with their elders variously puzzled and impressed.
Religious leaders, while applauding the new interest in Jesus reflected in the youth culture's art and phrases, have had both pro-and-con reactions to the one-dimensional portrayals of Jesus.
It's a new—and perhaps healthy—"paganism," said the Rev. Gilbert Meilaender Jr. of St. Louis, a Lutheran clergyman, noting that Greek and Roman pagan gods were active in the world, sharing human faults and weaknesses.

"The God of the Hebrews and Christians was transcendent, but the gods of the pagans were only men immensely multiplied," he wrote in an evangelical weekly, Christianity Today.
He said this is the rock opera's view of Jesus, adding:
"It cannot affirm that in this man God is acting, because it finds in him only a man—a man writ large, a man like the gods, a superstar, but only a man."
A Roman Catholic Bible scholar, the Rev. John L. McKenzie of Chicago, strongly commends the rock opera, after listening to a recording of it.

"It has really brought me back to Christianity," said Andrew Rohrer, 21, who plays Jesus in the production based on Matthew's gospel. "I was soured on religion in the organized church, but this has put me back on it."
The Rev. Mr. Meilaender said the productions seem to be part of a "new interest in integrating religious belief into the fabric of life, of finding in the Christian faith something with which men of our time can identify."
And if this "leads man from secularism to paganism," he adds, it's a step toward faith.

Suit Filed Over Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine Columbus area school teachers have gone to court to block the Oct. 22 election scheduled for the Central Ohio Teachers Association.

They want the election ground rules changed and are seeking a temporary injunction until this is accomplished.
The teachers filed for the injunction in Franklin County Common Pleas Court Wednesday against the association and members of its executive board.

The teachers challenge a resolution of the board requiring members to belong to the Ohio Education Association before being permitted to vote at the election to be held in Columbus.
They maintain association by-laws do not now require members to be affiliated with OEA but that a change to be voted on at the election would require such membership.

OCTOBER BIRTHSTONES

Opals are only found where once there had been an inland sea. It is as though the dying sea had left this vivid gem in memory of rainbows that arched above it. Some feared the power of the Opal, which was reputed to make its owner invisible so that he could escape the roving eye of misfortune. Like its companion birthstone, the Opal signifies hope. The Tourmaline also belongs to October. It is another attractive birthstone for men's jewelry.

Search For Lord's Image Morning Circle Program

Morning Circle of the WSCS of Calvary United Methodist Church met in the Church Annex Wednesday morning with 10 members and one guest present. Coffee, tea and a variety of donuts were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Earl Milliron and Miss Ruth Dollison.

Mrs. Dale DeLong, society president opened the meeting with an interesting article "What God Hath Done". As we ponder these words we must agree we all owe our Maker a great debt, she said, and presented prayer.

Offering of the morning was received which included the "Do-It-Yourself" project money. The ladies were reminded of the "Thanksgiving Offering" due next month.

The need for workers in the Crusaders Class booth at Pumpkin Show was stressed. A letter from the Archbishops in the Mission Field in Africa was read, stating that $60,000 had been approved to complete a dental and law school there.

Several prayer groups have been formed and meeting at several homes and offices in preparation of the revival to be held in Calvary Church Nov. 7-14.

Christian social relations committee noted its program of saving old eye glasses, old hose and Betty Crocker Coupons. A new project, that of saving old neck ties, clean and pressed to be used in making rugs was announced.

The group was urged to keep the reading course books moving as time is growing short and a report will soon be needed.

All were reminded to send Dessie Pritchard, Monterey Nursing Home, Grove City, Ohio Room E, a card for her birthday on Oct. 25th.

Mrs. Andrew Goeller urged the ladies to turn in their subscriptions to "Response" as soon as possible.

An invitation to "Family Night" at the St. Paul Church was read. Mr. Ernest Sells will show his slides on Africa.

Ten members of the Society attended the Retreat at Stoutsville recently.

Program leader of the morning was Mrs. Edgar Anderson. She used as her topic "The Contemporary Search For Likenesses Of Our Lord." She stated that whenever an artist tried to capture the face or form of Jesus Christ on canvas, in marble, on paper, in bronze, wood, silver or gold, there are sure to be people who will say, "But this is not my Jesus". And it will be the continuation of an old controversy.

The fathers of the early Christian Church did not see our Lord alike. Several paintings by Leonardo da Vinci, Italy of the 15th century; Rembrandt, Holland of the 17th century; Warner Sallman, United States of the 20th century and many, many others were exhibited, showing the variations of each artist.

By the 4th century A.D., it was decided that Jesus could not have been ugly, according to the 45th Psalm: "You are the fairest of the sons of man." St. Jerome wrote: "All who saw Him were at once attracted by the divine brilliance which emanated from His person and lit up His countenance."

The question is often asked "Why was it that Jesus' picture was not painted during His lifetime here on earth?" One reason undoubtedly, was that He carried out His early ministry among a people who believed that painting or sculpturing a person's features could be considered idolatry.

It is harder to understand why the writers of the Gospels did not attempt a physical description of Jesus, but they simply did not.

Down through the Christian centuries, artists have had to form His image out of their own intuition and their own understanding of man's relationship to God. They have variously depicted Him as majestic and virile — as the judge of all mankind — as a young shepherd lad — as bearing all human sorrows — as radiating all heavenly joy — as prince, rabbi, healer, fisherman, companion, teacher — as savior and sacrifice — as God and man.

The many and changing images of Christ that artists have given us through nearly 2,000 years, the diverse images they give us today tell us something very important. They tell us that the Son of God, our Savior, our Brother, our Lord, is for each man in his own time. He comes to each of us in our own way, perhaps

'This Bloomin' World' Garden Club Program

"This Bloomin' World" was the theme when Pickaway County Garden Club conducted its October meeting Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. T. L. Huston introduced Ned Harden, who showed a sound and color film from Kodak of our theme for the year.

The first pictures showed a small child making an arrangement with flowers.

Seeing flowers growing in their native places and then gradually show a close up view of many different flowers was very enjoyable.

All of these pictures displayed beauty, a thing of every day. People working with a closeness of earth in pioneer days began to add beauty of flowers and trees about their homes.

Pictures also reminded us of smoke, filth among industries, cities and among countryside. They reveal man shaping a changed picture, growing plants for food and then cultivating a taste of beauty.

In Holland, Mich., children were shown cleaning streets during a Cleaning Festival and many displays of Holland bulbs blooming.

Oslo, Norway, was called "Flower Box City." Many examples were given of beautifying the unusual. A single bloom can produce a galaxy of spring. One community utilized many small spaces of land.

Most industries of today have landscaped their grounds into beauty spots of flowers and parks.

Some people travel to seek natural flowers from sea coast to mountain slopes. The Range varies from historical to many locations, including Chinese tea gardens. Many retreats of gardens are only one hour drive from our largest cities.

Our great artist of mankind has provided a world to be explored, but we must fight to save this beauty of nature.

Mrs. Dean Sells presided at an executive and business meeting. Items were shown to be sold at the flower show during the Pumpkin Show.

She announced "Knight Before Christmas" program by Mrs. John W. Knight Jr. of Garden Clubs of Ohio at Columbus Historical Center, 10 a.m. Nov. 4.

Also, "Fall Fanfare" flower show by the Columbus Regional Council at Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts Oct. 30 from 2:30-5 p.m., Oct. 31 12-4 p.m. The show is free to the public.

The club will decorate for the Pumpkin Show the window of Economy Loan Company.

Workshop chairman urged in a blinding flash of light, perhaps as a still, small voice. But always in the way that will drive us to exclaim in surprise and delight: "Yes, this IS my Lord."

Hostess for the November meeting is Mrs. James Salyer with program leader, Mrs. Francis Davis.

members to save pumpkin seeds and hemlock cones.

The club will celebrate its 25th anniversary with Garden Club of Ohio this year.

Mrs. Richard Wilkinson, a guest, was introduced.

A dessert course preceded the program and was served by the Women's Assn. of the church. Mrs. James Irwin was chairman of the hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Hovermale, Mrs. William Deffenbaugh, Mrs. E. L. Montgomery and Mrs. Walter Hall.

Court Nixes Homosexual Marriages

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Supreme Court today rejected a plea by two homosexual men seeking a marriage license, declaring that marriage is a unique male-female arrangement "as old as the book of Genesis."

The court's unanimous ruling rejected the claims by Richard John Baker and James Michael McConnell, both 29, who argued that nothing in state law prohibited a same-sex marriage.

The pair claims to be married anyway, using a license obtained at Mankato, Minn. Their Supreme Court case involved refusal by the Hennepin County clerk to issue a license in May 1970.

Baker is president of the student association at the University of Minnesota. McConnell is a librarian.

In its ruling, the high court said a ban on same-sex marriage does not violate any provision of the U.S. Constitution, as claimed by the two.

"The institution of marriage as a union of man and woman, uniquely involving the procreation and rearing of children within a family, is as old as the book of Genesis," the court held.

The justices also held that the classification of persons allowed to marry is not an offense against the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Find Secret 'Tolerances' For Food Inspection

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A carton of eggs with four sub-standard eggs is still a Grade AA carton. A package of Bologna with 31 per cent fat is cleared for sale. So is a chicken containing 13 per cent water.

The handbooks of federal food inspectors and graders don't read that way, but the guidelines they follow mean that consumer protection laws tend to bend here and there in practice.

The bending, in official parlance, is called tolerances.

In consumer terms, it's an expensive practice. For example, the General Accounting Office has estimated that a 1 per cent increase in the water content of poultry costs consumers $32 million a year.

While federal laws forbid interstate sales of any food, drug or cosmetic that is adulterated or misbranded, government regulators follow a guiding principle that can't be found in a law book.

Here's now the principle works: Regulators look at, say, the spice processor they regard as the nation's most efficient, and determine that the best he can do is keep the number of whole dead insects in each lot at four. Therefore four or less is tolerable; more than four is illegal. The regulatory process involves "recognizing that although you strive for perfection, you don't get it," said Thomas Brown, head of compliance in the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Foods. The FDA acknowledged that it has a set of secret administrative guidelines for food. Brown provided specific examples of the tolerances but refused to provide a complete copy.

In the other bastion of federal food inspection, the Agriculture Department, the tolerances and guidelines tend to be public.

The department's regulations on water in poultry originally specified that no bird could absorb more than 12 per cent water while being dipped in ice water to cool the carcass. But in drawing up the guidelines, the department permitted a fifth of the birds to absorb as much as 13 per cent and still pass inspection.

Regulations forbid sale of Bologna, hot dogs and other cooked sausage products containing more than 10 per cent water. But the guidelines which interpret the regulations require automatic detention only of products containing more than 13 per cent water.

The system for regulating fat content in hot dogs is the same, but the figures are different. They can contain up to 30.6 per cent fat and be cleared routinely, or up to 31.6 per cent fat before inspectors clamp down.

Officials say they're confident the fat guidelines are effective because the department's retail sampling programs have shown that the average fat content of cooked sausage products is about 28 per cent.

Tolerances also crop up in the grading programs administered by the Department of Agriculture for olives, apples, lemons, eggs and virtually everything that grows.

The system for eggs is typical. Eggs are graded AA, A, B or C on the basis of size, shell condition, size and nature of the yolk and white, and location of the air cell.

A carton of AA eggs in a supermarket need contain only eight eggs of top grade. Two are permitted to be of Grade A quality. Two eggs may be of lowest quality, meaning there might be small blood clots, visible germ development in the yolk or a cracked but non-leaking shell.

Asked why the tolerances were kept from the public, FDA's Brown replied:

"The reason we have not made them public is that some people felt if you tell the industry this is the level at which you take action, the industry will take this level and shoot for it."

"Now comes the era of consumerism. I think the public has a right to know the level at which we'll take action."

"It's going to be a hell of a job explaining to the consumer. But it's better than having to explain every time why we don't release them."

Dear Abby: Is Pay Raise The Cheapest Solution?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You told Willie, who had been giving his female bookkeeper "a few kisses" because he couldn't afford to give her a pay raise, that the cheapest solution would be to give her a raise. (Willie's wife had already caught wise.)

You are probably on sound ground, marriage-wise. But are you on sound economic ground?

Because of the wage freeze, Willie cannot give his bookkeeper a money raise until at least Nov. 13.

Isn't Willie, therefore, morally obligated to keep kissing his bookkeeper until he can grant her a pay raise?

R.L.L.: CLEVELAND
DEAR ABBY: Willie has it made. He can't give her a pay raise or Nixon will nail him. And if his wife catches him kissing his bookkeeper, he'll get it in the assets.

8 Satellites Launched By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched a cluster of eight satellites into earth orbit from a single carrier rocket, Tass reported Thursday.

The launching, carried out in secrecy Wednesday, appeared to be a duplication of an earlier experiment five months ago.

The purpose of the mission was described only as "continuation of the exploration of outer space."

The experiment is part of the top-secret Cosmos program which has military as well as civilian space objectives.

The purpose of the two previous experiments were also kept secret, and no hint of their exact missions has leaked out.

Tass said the new cluster is orbiting in close formation at a high point of 962 miles and a low point of 874 miles.

The sputniks, numbered Cosmos 444 to 451, made their first earth orbit in 115 minutes.

The United States has also carried out numerous cluster launchings, including at least five instances of eight craft together.

Meanwhile, Dr. Charles A. Berry, the official physician for U.S. astronauts, left the Soviet Union today after a week of talks and exchange of space medical data with Soviet experts.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow of 67, but I don't look it. A widower of 52 has been after me to marry him. All my family is married, and so is his. I am a good-looking woman, I'm told.

Do you think I'm too old for this man?

OUT EAST
DEAR OUT: No woman is too old for a man she is young enough to get.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to a 2 p.m. wedding. We arrived a few minutes late, so we tiptoed in and found two seats in the back pew.

Not 10 seconds after we had sat down a gentleman tapped my husband on the shoulder and motioned for us to follow him outside. He then told us we were not permitted to stay because we had arrived late. He said he was acting on instruction from the bride's parents. The ceremony had not begun.

We stood outside the church, terribly disappointed, and met another couple who had also been turned away. They were relatives of the groom and had driven 300 miles.

I know people should be on time for weddings, Abby, but what do you think of treating guests like this?

GOOD INTENTIONS
DEAR GOOD: I can understand why late-comers would not be allowed to trail in during the wedding ceremony, but to have asked you to leave once you had entered quietly and sat down was ridiculous.

DEAR ABBY: Well I've heard it all the pastor of a church in Indian Orchard, Mass., gives the wedding couple a $25 cleaning bill to be paid in advance in case rice is thrown at the bride and groom as they leave the church. I'll bet that same pastor sends out balance-due notices to greet the honeymooners on their return if they neglected what he felt was enough of that green stuff crammed into the pastor's envelope for services he rendered. Blessings, yet

If it takes more than a half hour to clean up the rice before a funeral that is to follow, then I suggest more time be allowed between.

I hope at my funeral someone will leave behind a bit of the happiness of a wedding that just took place, and someone in that funeral sees it and smiles at the joy it must have brought.

GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: You're beautiful.

Rockies Face Heavy Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Light snow spilled into the Rockies today—the beginning of what the National Weather Service said may be a major storm lasting through the weekend.

Heavy-snow warnings were in effect for much of Montana and stockmen in the Wyoming and Colorado regions of the Rockies were advised to take precautions against gusty winds and blowing snow.

Fair skies generally prevailed elsewhere across the nation except for showers in the Pacific Northwest and thunder-showers in the eastern Gulf states. Rainfall amounts were light.

Warm weather continued in the arid southwest and mild temperatures prevailed in the East.

East Section Church Group Sets Meeting

The Eastern Sectional Group of the Church of the Brethren will meet in the Circleville Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30. The meeting is under the direction of the District Board of the Church of Southern Ohio.

The first half hour will be devoted to "Evangelism" under the leadership of Rev. Alan Whitacre, pastor of Prince of Peace Church in Kettering, who is a member of the Commission on Evangelism for the Church of the Brethren.

The program from four to five p.m. will be by "The Believers". This is a singing and testimony group of twelve high school students from the Covington and Pleasant Hill area. They have appeared many times since their organization in May 1971, among these are two appearances at the Miami County Fair, one at the Darke County Fair, and one appearance in "The Brethren's Home," Greenville.

Lunch and Fellowship hour 5:30 p.m. At 6:30, Ron McAdams, newly elected chairman of the district board, will bring the message in regard to the work, and plans of the district board in relationship to the local church.

CEA Endorses Vocational School Levy

In its monthly meeting Wednesday the Circleville Education Association (CEA) endorsed the Pickaway-Ross Vocational School bond issue and tax levy.

It was pointed out that some 60 percent of the high school graduates of the two counties do not go on to college. Further, in the economy today, there is a great need for trained workers such as a school of this type would provide. The consensus of opinion among the educators present was that the vocational school would help many more students qualify for better jobs, and economic growth in the area would be stimulated.

Announcement was made of a court ruling in Louisiana, favoring teachers who had signed contracts prior to the wage-price freeze. School Boards in Jefferson and Orleans Parishes (Counties) paid their teachers salaries which were agreed to before the freeze. The United States Government sued to halt this action. However, Judge West denied the government's injunction. He said the contracts were entered into prior to August 15, 1971, and the higher salaries should be paid.

Members of the CEA Executive Committee hailed the action. Salaries for teachers in Circleville City Schools were established 73 days before the freeze, but for September, teachers were paid on the 1970-71 level without their annual increments.

The executive committee released a statement, "Teachers are not against the Wage-Price Freeze. They know something must be done. They are against the discrimination being shown toward them."

Novels, good stories to read when the wind begins to puff the leaves through the air, are now, as always, being added to the library's collection. Those reviewed in today's column are a cut above the average.

Sarah Gainham completes her ambitious trilogy with "Private Worlds". Previous to this volume in "Night Falls on the City" and "A Place in the Country" she took her characters through the holocaust of WW II and its dreadful post-war

Albatross Haven
DUNEDIN, New Zealand (AP) — A rocky spur at the end of the Otago Peninsula is the only part of a mainland in the world where the royal albatross nests regularly. Elsewhere it's on tiny lonely islands.

A public observatory is now being built near the South Island nesting place so that naturalists will be able to observe the big sea birds more closely than anywhere else.

who observes all but is seldom seen.

"Natalie, Natalia" is not a novel to be read lightly. Nicholas Mosley, its author, has produced a strange concoction of stream-of-consciousness writing and pure narrative. His reader must pay close attention to the almost poetical style to follow plot twists. It is the recording of a British M.P. and his three lives; one, his public career; two, his family relationships; and three, his tempestuous affair with the adúlteress Natalia. There is a good deal of symbolism in this book, and deep meaning to be ferreted out by the reader who likes to work at his books.

I get plenty of teasing from the fellows at the plant about my cove. They call it "Crockett's Cure-all for Tired Executives." And they're right.

Drifting alone on the still water, tiny under the full sky, things fall into perspective. A bird calls, upriver a fish arches, a passing breeze brings blossom scent. Somehow, no matter how thorny my problem, the harmony of God's nature takes the kinks out of me.

Things weren't always this way. A few years back a tree was just a tree to me — a lake, a lake. Now, wherever I look, I see God's goodness.

It all started one evening when, worried and depressed, I wandered into a church. I can't remember now what was sung or read, but I will never forget the sense of God's presence. Since then, God's Church and teachings have been my strength.

Your church offers inspiration and a fresh viewpoint. Take advantage of it.

Man Shot In Robbery

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — One man was in critical condition in a Toledo hospital this morning with gunshot wounds received in a shootout following a $7,000 robbery at dawn in the Paladium Skating Rink on the city's east side.

The man's identity was not immediately known.

The shootout occurred when police arrived at the skating rink after receiving a report of robbery in progress.

The skating rink reportedly closed between 2 and 2:30 a.m., and a caretaker was on duty at the time of the robbery.

Police said three or four men entered the rink armed and wearing stocking masks. At least three men escaped following the shootout.

Meany Urges 'Spy System' Of Housewives On Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany, scoffing at the idea all businesses will voluntarily control prices in President Nixon's inflation battle, has called for an army of housewives to catch cheaters.

Meany, in an appeal to the wives of the AFL-CIO's 13.6 million members, said labor is setting up a price-monitoring system because the Nixon administration has not developed adequate compliance machinery.

"The President is going to depend on the voluntary cooperation of the business community," he says. "We feel that is not good enough." said Meany. "We know that unless they are watched and watched carefully, some will either raise prices or reduce quality or quantity or all three."

In another economic development Thursday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., urged the Senate Finance Committee to add to Nixon's tax-cut bill a tax-credit plan designed to produce 500,000 additional jobs.

Javits amendment would give an employer whose employees worked more man-hours in the current year than the previous one a tax credit of $4 per man-day. The credit would be subtracted from taxes due, for a total cost, Javits estimated, of $1.8 billion the first year.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., asked the panel to add to the $15.5-billion House-passed tax cut a $3.5-billion program chiefly designed to aid families at or below the poverty level.

Kissinger's route is likely to duplicate Nixon's, again if precedents mean anything. It is standard practice for presidential pilots to traverse in advance the international routes their bosses will follow, in order to familiarize themselves with airports and navigation facilities along the way.

The Kissinger route: from nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., to Travis Air Force Base, Calif., to Hilo to Guam—for an overnight stop—then to Shanghai and Peking. He will return via Anchorage, Alaska.

Kissinger's major mission will be to arrange a detailed agenda, in collaboration with Chinese officials, for Nixon's substantive talks with Premier Chou En-lai and other officials, presumably including Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Others in his party will be responsible for planning logistics and timing, presidential protection, communications with Washington, and press arrangements.

Swimming Pool Electric Wiring Reported Faulty

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Akron Better Business Bureau has notified Summit County commissioners that about 1,000 swimming pools sold in a three-county area over the past two summers may have faulty electrical wiring.

The Better Business Bureau said that about half of the pools in question were sold in the summer of 1970 by the Shangri-La Pools of suburban Fairlawn and the other half this summer by the same company which moved to Canton and changed its name to Diversified Industries.

Other counties involved are Stark and Cuyahoga and the Better Business Bureau asked the prosecutors in all three to conduct a joint probe into the alleged defects and the possible building permit violations.

What the exact electrical wiring fault was and how serious the dangers it presents to the pool owner was not immediately known.

First Banc Group Earnings Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — First Banc Group of Ohio, Inc., has reported earnings for the first nine months of 1971 reached $7,002,680.

Price per share was $2 compared to $1.99 during the same period last year.

Net income for the 1971 period was $7,096,977 compared to $7,020,678 during 1970.

More Violence Reported In National Coal Strike

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Scattered reports of violence continue in the coal fields as United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle says contract negotiators "remain far apart."

Contract talks aimed at ending the more than two-week-old strike that idles some 100,000 miners across the nation were to resume today between the UMW and the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association.

Sporadic violence in connection with the strike continued Thursday, with most of the reports centered in West Virginia's Northern Panhandle and eastern Ohio.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., this morning sent a telegram to the President, asking "special attention to these problems by you and the appropriate executive branch officials."

"The over-all effect of the still prevailing 'no contract, no work' situation is growing more devastating daily as men and women in other industrial and commercial enterprises besides coal are being furloughed from their jobs," Randolph said, adding:

"And our country's balance of payments status is being further damaged by the interruption of coal exports."

No matter what the outcome of the contract negotiations, he Black Lung Association said Thursday it would call a "new" nationwide coal strike if the eventual contract "doesn't make the 1969 Mine and Safety Act a part of the pact."

The association said the contract "should include ratification by rank-and-file union members, a dollar and a half per ton royalty on all coal, and guaranteed pensions and welfare benefits for retired and disabled miners, widows and dependents."

In the Northern Panhandle, Brooke County police were investigating a fire Thursday that damaged a house and some equipment at Liberty Coal Co. east of West Liberty. Police blamed the action on roving mineworkers' pickets.

For the second consecutive day, some 300 pickets attempted to halt coal deliveries from stockpiles in Weirton to the Weirton Steel Division of National Steel Corp. despite a temporary restraining order issued Oct. 9.

Steel company officials said late Thursday that 30 "alleged UMW members" would be served court orders directing them to appear Tuesday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt in connection with the temporary restraining order.

'Easy Life Of Policeman' Denied By Campus Chief

KENT, Ohio (AP)—James Fyke, head of the campus security forces at Kent State University, has struck back against charges published by the KSU Federation of Teachers that it would be profitable for them to switch over to the security force.

The teachers put out a publication headlined: "Why teach?
Why publish and perish? Become a campus patrolman and make lots more money than you are now. All you need is a high school diploma."

The publication, under the direction of Dr. John Miller, assistant professor of speech and head of the federation, said that in the month of December security chief Fyke received $2,083 as head of security and 13 officers received pay ranging from $922 to $1,739.

However, Fyke said that he was not even named security chief until this past spring and that the pay he received was for three months work as a law instructor at KSU's Stark County branch and for a month's duty as director of government research and services in the university's political science department.

The publication did not mention what teachers are paid at KSU, but a report by the American Association of University Professors shows that KSU
teachers are paid anywhere from $6,000 to $29,000 with a mean pay of $12,537 and a median of $11,091.

The association report said
Kent has 1,127 faculty members who are paid on a nine-month basis with the teaching of summer courses bringing added income.

The security force, which has some 65 officers and 15 office personnel, is paid on a 12-month basis. Fyke makes $19,- 000 annual without an overtime provision, while the low base pay for men is $7,384 and for lieutenants —the highest paid

category — the lowest base pay is $11,600.

These men, for the most part,
accumulate overtime pay
throughout the year.

Fyke said that of the 13 patrolmen cited in the publication, eight were working 60-hour weeks and attending the police academy in Columbus.
He said not one of his men worked less than 257 hours in December because of a rash of bomb threats, winter commencement and athletic events.

He said that the $1,739 figure cited by the publication was payment to patrolman F. Pizzulo. Fyke said that $900 of that amount was for his work as an officer and trainer and the rest was payment for work as a part-time Latin instructor.

Business Backs Nixon

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) —
Top industrialists who make up the Business Council have done a turnabout on wage and price control—from near total rejection six months ago to virtually unanimous support of President
Nixon's price freeze and Phase 2 plans.

Corporation heads arriving for today's first session of the council's fall meeting here told reporters privately they hope the President's strong economic medicine will cool inflation fever sufficiently to permit an early return to free markets.

But some predicted Phase 2 may last 18 months to two years because, as one of them said, the expectation of inflation has become solidly imbedded in public psychology.

At least two major manufacturers told newsmen they expect the guideposts for wage increases—still to be developed by the new Pay Board—may permit annual increases of 5 to 6 per cent. They indicated that industry would not find such a wage cost intolerable.

There were general declarations of agreement and support for Nixon's Phase 2 machinery such as the 15-member labor-industry-public Pay Board and the Price Commission of seven public members.

Shah Of Iran Entertains In Splendorous Fashion

PERSEPOLIS, Iran (AP) —
The Shah of Iran entertained his glittering assemblage of guests at an eight-course, six-wine banquet Thursday night.

Royalty and commoners,
leaders of Communist and capitalist countries and representatives of traditional foes set aside their differences for the occasion and for the roast peacock, quail and lamb served up in the imperial mess tent amid the ruins of Persia's ancient capital.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, flanked by the vice president of Poland and the crown prince of Sweden, dined 1911 Moet champagne at a head
table that included eight kings, 13 presidents and assorted
prime ministers, governors-general and sultans.

Welcoming his guests to the banquet celebrating the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian empire, the shah urged them to harmonize their efforts for a world "free from fear, anxiety and the constant threat of annihilation."

As the 12-piece string orchestra played Mozart and the television lights shown on Emress Farah's fabulous jewels, Italian waiters moved silently through the aisles with the gustatorial masterpieces created by Maxim's of Paris and prepared by 80 Swiss chefs.

The real treat of the evening was the array of gowns paraded by such international beauties as the empress, Princessee Grace of Monaco, Mrs.
Ferdinand Marcos, first lady of the Philippines, and Mrs. Jacques Chaban-Delmas, wife of the French premier.

Princess Anne of Britain was smashing in a silver flecked, high-necked olive dress and up-swept hair-do. Britain was represented by her father, Prince Philip.

President Nikolai V. Podgorny of the Soviet Union found himself next to the wife of the president of Romania, two Communist countries on edgy terms of late.

Junior High English Has New Teacher

MRS. NEAL HAMILTON

By LYN JACOBS

"English is the one subject that we use every day all our lives. There are very few personal contacts and jobs in which English does not play a part."

These are the feelings of Mrs. Neal Hamilton, eighth and ninth grade English teacher and the reasons she chose to teach this specific subject. She chose teaching in general because she believes it is the most challenging profession a woman can have.

Coming to Circleville from Wilmington, Del., Mrs. Hamilton resides at 592 Willow Lane with her husband Neal, who works in the research and development laboratory at DuPont and two sons, Mike, a seventh grader, and Tom, a sophomore.

After graduating cum laude from Vanderbilt where she became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, she attended Powers Modeling School and modeled for John Wanamaker's stores.

Besides keeping busy with teaching at the junior high, Mrs. Hamilton is adviser for the "Tiger Times," the CJHS newspaper.

Jennifer, Lisa Are CHS's Pick For Queenship

JENNIFER RICHARDSON, LEFT AND LISA HENDERSON

By CAROL HODGES

CHS has picked two "winners" for the Miss Pumpkin Show contest.

The student body chose Lisa Henderson as the senior candidate. Lisa resides at 209 N. Scioto St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Henderson. She has two brothers, Mike and Jerry, and a married sister Tami, who was Miss Circleville in 1968.

Lisa is active in GAA, the Spirit Committee, Student Council, volleyball intramurals and cheerleading. She also likes football, horse-back riding and her dog and cat.

Born in Circleville, Lisa has also lived in New York, North Carolina and Pennsylvania, due to her father's transfers with Nationwide Insurance. About Pumpkin Show, Lisa comments, "I'm nervous and excited about the contest. It really is an honor to be chosen as a candidate."

Junior representative is Jennifer Richardson. At school, Jennifer is in GAA, volleyball intramurals, projects committee and the make-up crew for the Junior Class play. She lists as her likes bike riding, rain and laughing. She plans to attend college after graduation and possibly go into nursing.

'Eskimo' Tulips Prove Success

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)

Michigan State University researchers have reported what could be a tulip breakthrough—frozen spring bulbs that bloom in fall.

"Eskimo" tulips bloomed in early October at the university after being frozen since January.

"We just postponed spring until fall had arrived," said Dr. August De Hertogh, horticultural researcher in charge of an eight-year Dutch bulb project.

Researchers are on their way to having blooming tulips the year round, greatly increasing tulip market potential, De Hertogh said.

Tigers Ready Homecoming

By KENT WOLFE and DON VALENTINE

It is homecoming in Circleville this weekend as the Tigers host the Greenfield McClain Tigers.

Greenfield has good size and can get very physical at times. They have yet to win a game this season. Circleville, coming from a sound victory over Hillsboro, has worked hard all week and are ready to lay their SCOL title on the line against McClain.

It is going to be a rough weekend in the county as Logan Elm and Westfall will tangle with the Mustangs coming out on top. Hamilton Township will prove to be more than a much improved Teays Valley team can handle.

Ohio State Buckeyes, after defeating Illinois last weekend tangle with Indiana. Although the Buckeyes are badly hampered by injuries, they will once again triumph.

It will be a tough weekend in the NFL too as the Cleveland Browns meet the Cincinnati Bengals. The Browns really have a hot streak going and will show the Bengals what the game of football really is.

Seniors Feel Press Of Graduation Near

By LISA WILLIAMS

What? Is graduation so near? This is a question many of the seniors feel like asking as they begin to tackle many of the tasks which go along with graduation.

Recently, seniors chose the announcements they wanted and Oct. 8 Mr. Krier came from Jostens to take orders. The class could also order senior keys.

A class meeting was held and one of the main topics under discussion was where and when graduation will be held.

Of course, selecting class colors, motto and flower is an important part of graduation. Suggestions were taken in each homeroom and after many officers' meetings they were narrowed down and the final suggestions were voted on last Tuesday in noon homeroom.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

With Wednesday night's World Series game being an innovation in the fall classic and setting a new attendance record in Three Rivers Stadium, it appears that weekday series games will be played at night in the future.

This will give most followers of the sport a chance to view the complete series on the tube. This will be a boon to students and fans who must provide bread for their families during the daylight hours.

World Series players share in the receipts of the first four games only, nothing thereafter. This should quiet some skeptics who feel the players prolong the series in order to line their pockets.

The series winners get 36 per cent of the receipts while the losers settle for 27 per cent. Actually 12 teams share in series money which makes the battle for high places in the league very important.

In the league playoffs, players share in the first three games with the winners getting 60 per cent and the losers drawing 25 per cent.

In case there might be some interest in ticket prices to the series, the tariff for box seats is $15, reserved seats $10 and general admission hits the pocket for $8.

It makes it kind of nice to sink into the living room chair, turn on the set and watch them go at it.

Our little gem of information — The largest gathering at a series game was 92,706. This was the crowd at the Los Angeles Coliseum in the fifth game of the 1959 classic between the Dodgers and the White Sox.

Our "fearless" forecast — It will be a happy homecoming for Circleville . . . Teays Valley is coming on much to the regret of Hamilton Twp. . . Westfall will out limp the crippled Braves . . . Ohio State will beat Indiana . . . We like the Browns over the Bengals . . . Circleville's cross country team is for real.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Floridians Beats Memphis; 76ers, Bucks Win Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Johnny Neumann, the No. 1 collegiate scorer last season with a 40-point per game average, scored only nine points in his first pro basketball game.

The heralded rookie from the University of Mississippi, now with the Memphis Pros of the American Basketball Association, also was on the losing side as the Floridians beat the Pros 103-99 in the only ABA game Thursday night.

In contrast veteran Billy Cunningham scored 41 points and Kareem Jabbar, formerly Lew Alcindor, 31, to lead the Philadelphia 76ers and the champion Milwaukee Bucks to victory in the two National Basketball Association games scheduled.

The 76ers whipped the Houston Rockets 105-94 and the Bucks downed the Phoenix Suns 110-97.

Cunningham scored two field goals and a free throw to enable the 76ers to pull away after the Rockets had pulled within three points at 91-88 midway of the last quarter. Rudy Tomjanovich's 28 points led the Rockets in their home opener before 4,771 at Astrohall.

Key baskets by John McGlocklin and Oscar Robertson put Milwaukee ahead for good late in the third period after the Suns, also playing at home, had rallied to tie the score. Connie Hawkins led the Suns with 25 points.

At Memphis, the Floridians, behind by 73-72 after three quarters, took a six-point lead early in the last period and held off the Pros. Mack Calvin and Larry Jones combined for 44 points, 22 each, to pace the Floridians. Wilbur Jones of Memphis was the game's high scorer with 28.

Wadkins Leads PGA

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins of Winston-Salem, N.C., took a three-stroke lead into the fifth round of the 108-hole qualifying golf tourney of the PGA Approved Tournament Players School today.

Wadkins, a Walker Cup player and the 1970 U.S. Amateur champion, fired a par 72 Thursday for a six-under-par 282 after 72 holes at the PGA National Golf Club.

Bob Zender of Skokie, Ill., a Purdue University product, remained second at 285 after also shooting a 72 Thursday. Gray Groh of Jackson, Mich., fired a 73 Thursday and ranked third with 286, four strokes off the pace.

Wadkins' 282 compared favorably with a 281 that Jack Nicklaus shot last February to win the PGA Championship over the same East course.

Two other former U.S. Amateur titlists, Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., and Bruce Fleischer of Miami, joined Wadkins among the top 10. Melnyk was tied for fourth at 287 and Fleischer's 289 placed him tied for sixth.

The original field of 75 entrants, those of the 357 who survived three sectional qualifying rounds for the current school, was cut to 70 after Thursday because of four withdrawals and one injured player.

Pirates Stun Orioles For 3rd Win, 4-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, poised on the threshold of World Series history, have returned to Baltimore, hoping to deliver the knockout blow to the suddenly staggering Orioles as quickly as possible.

The Pirates took command of the series by sweeping three straight games on the artificial tartan turf of Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium. They were set to go for the title in Saturday's sixth game with Bob Moose, another member of the rather non-descript pitching staff that has suddenly stilled the Baltimore bats.

It was Nelson Briles' turn in Thursday's crucial fifth game and the veteran right-hander responded with a brilliant two-hitter that gave the Pirates a 4-0 victory and left them one game away from their first title since 1960.

Suddenly, the Series that seemed a mismatch when Baltimore won the first two games, has turned around and the world champion Orioles are the team in trouble.

If the Pirates beat the Birds Saturday, they will become the first team in Series history to win four straight after dropping the first two games.

Four other teams have won the title in seven games after dropping the first two. But no team has come back from that deficit to win the classic in six. "We'll see what kind of club this is on Saturday," said Frank Robinson in the somber Baltimore dressing room. "We can still win if we want to win."

Briles called his dramatic fifth-game victory, "the culmination of everything I've worked for in the last two years. They've been two hard years with a lot of work and not too much success."

Briles was a mainstay of the St. Louis pitching staff with 48 victories in three seasons before slumping to a 6-7 record last year. The Cards swapped him to Pittsburgh in a four-player trade last winter.

"We figured on him as a spot starter and long man out of the bullpen," said Danny Murtaugh, manager of the Pirates. Used both ways, Briles was 8-4 with a 3.04 earned run average. He managed just four complete games.

But Murtaugh planned to start him in the third game of the National League playoffs against San Francisco.

Then, a few minutes before game time, he came up with a pulled groin muscle and the start went to Bob Johnson instead. The Pirates won the game but Briles felt lost.

"It was a low point in my career," he said.

But Murtaugh didn't quit on the veteran right-hander and gave him the start in the pivotal fifth World Series game. This time, Briles was ready.

He needed just 99 pitches to dispose of the Orioles and faced just 29 batters—two over the minimum.

He was in command from the start and got the only run he needed when Bob Robertson rocked Dave McNally's first pitch for a leadoff homer in the second inning.

Briles drove in a second run with a timely single and then the Pirates added two more—one without a hit when they capitalized on Gene Clines' triple and Roberto Clemente's single in the fifth.

When Briles came to bat in the eighth inning, the capacity crowd of 51,377 gave him a standing ovation. It was an obviously emotional moment for the pitcher.

"At that moment, all the people who've been so good to me through the years and encouraged me when I've been down, flashed through my mind," Briles said. "In all honesty . . . I cried."

Briles finished the Orioles off easily in the ninth despite a momentary lapse when he walked Don Buford with two out. When he got the final batter on a force play grounder, he was mobbed by his teammates.

"Today meant more to me than any game I ever pitched," Briles said.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, meanwhile, tried desperately to figure out a way to restore some punch to the Oriole line-up. The Birds collected 16 runs and 24 hits in the first two games of the Series but just nine hits in the three games at Pittsburgh.

"I wish I knew what I could do," said Weaver.

"We've been bad in everything," said Frank Robinson. "Defense, offense and pitching. It hasn't been one thing, but a whole combination of things."

Their sudden slide at Pittsburgh left the Orioles on the brink of elimination. "Now we'll see what we're made of," Frank concluded.

Asked if he was bringing champagne along with him for the trip to Baltimore, Murtaugh grinned.

"I'm taking a quart of skimmed milk," he said.

Forecaster Sees Browns Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Talking about the sweet smell of success. The 1971 National Football League season has been a bed of roses for the Washington Redskins while the Buffalo Bills have been playing in a rock garden.

This weekend the Redskins will smell victory for the fifth time in as many games while the Bills will catch the scent for the first time this season.

That's how it looks from here, where the specialty is raising winning picks with a thumb whose green matches either grass or artificial turf.

Last week, we had a 9-4 record for a two-week mark of 16-9-1.

Washington 27, St. Louis 24—Washington's Curt Knight and Jim Baaken should get their kicks, but the Redskins' consistency gives them an edge over the Cardinals who run hot and cold.

Buffalo 31, New York Jets 21—The winless Bills have been shut out twice in a row and are hungry for a score. The points should come more easily against a New York defense missing end John Elliott and tackle Gerry Philbin.

Baltimore 27, New York Giants 17—The Giants have been taking advantage of opponents' mistakes but making plenty of their own. Baltimore doesn't make many mistakes.

Detroit 17, Houston 7—Shapes up as a good defensive game. Houston scared Kansas City and Washington and might scare the Lions, but the Oilers won't beat them.

Minnesota 24, Green Bay 14—Green Bay can run, but the Vikings have the best defense against the rush and they also like to do things to rookies, which is what Packers quarterback Scott Hunter is.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson is shoving aside his age and inexperience, saying he is up for the Cleveland Browns Sunday and has the confidence of his teammates.

"I feel good and I'm really looking forward to the game," the 22-year-old rookie from Augustana College in Illinois said. "Quarterbacks have to run the show. It's a matter of going out there and taking charge. I've got to have confidence in myself and do a real good job and I know I can."

Anderson, who will be starting his second game in place of injured quarterback Virgil Carter, said that he wants to beat the Browns because they are the top team in the Central Division of the National Football League's American Conference. But he said that he and other team members have been preparing for the contest just the same as for other games.

A sellout crowd of more than 60,000 will see the game at Riverfront Stadium, as will a national television audience. But there will be no closed circuit television of the contest or any other this year, contrary to a proposal by Cincinnati Councilman William Chenault.

Underdog Kansas Unafraid Of Top-Ranked Nebraska

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Pirates can do it, why can't the Jayhawks? Hardly anyone expected the Pittsburgh Pirates to beat the Baltimore Orioles three straight in baseball's World Series, but they did.

Hardly anyone expects the unranked Kansas Jayhawks to beat unbeaten and top-ranked Nebraska Saturday, but stranger things have happened in college football.

"If the ball bounces right for us we have a chance to win, but we'll have to play a great game," said Kansas Coach Don Fambrough.

One of the reasons Fambrough thinks his Jayhawks have a chance to upset the mighty Cornhuskers at Lincoln, Neb., is David Jaynes, his sophomore quarterback.

Jaynes came off the bench last week to throw three touchdown passes as the Jayhawks stunned Kansas State 39-13. "He's a fine forward passer," commented coach Bob Devaney of the Cornhuskers who will be after their sixth straight victory and 25th in a row without a defeat.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 2 team in The Associated Press rankings, is favored to defeat sixth-ranked Colorado at home for the unbeaten Sooners' fifth straight this season.

The Sooners drubbed Texas last week 48-27 behind an awesome running attack led by Greg Pruitt, a 5-foot-9, 176-pound junior who tallied three touchdowns.

Texas, which tumbled to 10th in the AP rankings, will try to rebound against 16th-ranked Arkansas in the nationally televised game from Little Rock over the ABC network.

In other major games, No. 3 Michigan is at home to Illinois, No. 4 Alabama takes on 14th-ranked Tennessee at Birmingham, No. 5 Auburn is at Georgia Tech, No. 7 Notre Dame entertains North Carolina, No. 8 Georgia is at Vanderbilt for a night game and No. 9 Penn State at Syracuse.

Arizona State, No. 11, is pitted against Oregon State in a night game at Portland. Other games involving teams in the AP Second Ten find No. 12 night; No. 13 Ohio State at Indiana; No. 15 Stanford at Southern California, night; No. 17 Toledo at home to Western Michigan.

Young Bowling Green, slung with its first league loss by Toledo last week for a 2-1 mark, visits Kent State, 6-2 in the conference.

In other features on a 21-game Ohio college schedule Saturday, Ohio State goes to Indiana in the Big Ten and the Ohio Conference has five games on tap.

The injury-riddled Buckeyes share the Big Ten lead at 2-0 with Michigan and Purdue. Indiana has won only once in five games this fall.

Three of the four unbeaten (2-0) Ohio Conference leaders are involved in the league this week. Marietta and Ohio Wesley are home, the Pioneers playing Capital and the Bishops facing Muskingum. Mount Union, another undefeated co-leader, travels to Heidelberg.

Wittenberg, the fourth OC team with two straight victories, goes outside the conference for a night game at Findlay.

In games involving major teams, Wichita State is at Cincinnati, Dayton at Marshall and Xavier at Temple in a night contest.

Elsewhere Saturday, Otterbein is at Hiram, Akron at Northern Michigan, Ashland at Hillsdale, Central State at DePue, Western Illinois at Youngstown State, a night game; Washington and Jefferson at Case Western Reserve, John Carroll at Thiel, Manchester at Bluffton, Wilmington at Bethany and Anderson at Ohio Northern.

Michigan: No. 18 Washington at Oregon; No. 19 Florida State at Florida and No. 20 Purdue at Northwestern.

Two Friday night games start the collegiate weekend tonight. Villanova is at Houston and Navy at Miami, Fla.

Mid-American Conference Faces Full Loop Schedule

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Mid-American Conference faces its first full league schedule of the season Saturday and it's a pivotal week for the title challengers.

Toledo, riding the nation's longest winning streak of 23 games, can take a big step toward its third straight Mid-American crown against visiting Western Michigan.

Atop the league with a 2-0 record, the Rockets will be facing what was regarded as their No. 1 challenger before the season began. The Broncos, however, are only 1-1 in the conference and need an upset to stay alive in the race.

Miami, starting with four non-conference triumphs, swings into Mid-American action against Ohio University, which appears out of the title picture with a 1-2 record.

Young Bowling Green, slung with its first league loss by Toledo last week for a 2-1 mark, visits Kent State, 6-2 in the conference.

In other features on a 21-game Ohio college schedule Saturday, Ohio State goes to Indiana in the Big Ten and the Ohio Conference has five games on tap.

The injury-riddled Buckeyes share the Big Ten lead at 2-0 with Michigan and Purdue. Indiana has won only once in five games this fall.

Three of the four unbeaten (2-0) Ohio Conference leaders are involved in the league this week. Marietta and Ohio Wesley are home, the Pioneers playing Capital and the Bishops facing Muskingum. Mount Union, another undefeated co-leader, travels to Heidelberg.

Wittenberg, the fourth OC team with two straight victories, goes outside the conference for a night game at Findlay.

In games involving major teams, Wichita State is at Cincinnati, Dayton at Marshall and Xavier at Temple in a night contest.

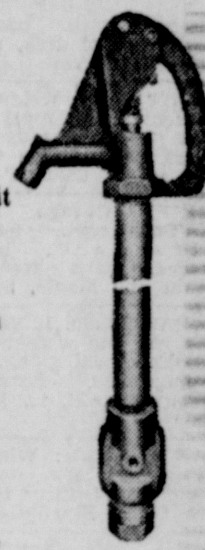

Elsewhere Saturday, Otterbein is at Hiram, Akron at Northern Michigan, Ashland at Hillsdale, Central State at DePue, Western Illinois at Youngstown State, a night game; Washington and Jefferson at Case Western Reserve, John Carroll at Thiel, Manchester at Bluffton, Wilmington at Bethany and Anderson at Ohio Northern.

Indiana Ready For Buckeyes, Pont Declares

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Ohio State, tied with Michigan and Purdue for the Big Ten football lead, visits Indiana University Saturday, a team it hasn't lost to in 20 years.
When Indiana last beat the Buckeyes, in 1951, it was the first season for Ohio State coach Woody Hayes. Since then, Hayes has beaten the Hoosiers 14 times and tied once, 0-0, in 1959. The two teams last played in 1966.
For Indiana, the big question will be whether its offense, which showed life for the first time this season in last week's 35-29 loss at Wisconsin, can keep it going.

For Ohio State, ranked No. 13, it's whether the loss of six starters to injuries can be overcome.
The defending Big Ten champion Buckeyes lost offensive tackle Merv Teague, middle guard Kevin Fletcher and defensive tackle Shad Williams for the season during Saturday's 24-10 victory at Illinois. The three, all juniors, underwent surgery Sunday. Teague and Williams suffered torn knee ligaments and Fletcher had a shoulder injury.
Lost in preseason practice were offensive tackle John Hicks, defensive halfback John Hughes and offensive guard Larry Graf, all juniors.

Indiana, 0-2 in league play and 1-4 overall, has been shut out in three games this year but, until last week, had allowed opponents just over 18 points a game.
If the Hoosier defense falters Saturday, coach John Pont may as well forget this one. The Buckeyes have averaged 33 points a game in their two Big Ten contests.
But Pont, who played and later coached under Hayes at Miami University of Ohio, isn't ready to concede anything. "I think they'll find we'll be ready for them," the Hoosier coach said. "We'll be flying at them."

Legal Im
(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 2)
Proposing to amend section 1g of Article II of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to require newspaper in the case of laws, proposed laws, or proposed amendments to the Constitution to be submitted to a vote of the electors.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state and manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, a proposal to amend section 1g of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE II
Section 1g. Any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition may be presented and signed by any person, but each part shall contain a full and correct copy of the title, and text of the law, proposed law, or proposed amendment to the Constitution, which is sought to be referred, or the proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution. Each signer of any initiative, supplementary or referendum petition must be an elector of the state and shall place on such petition after his name the date of signing and his place of residence. A resident of a municipality shall state in addition to the name of such municipality, the street and number, if any, of his residence. The names of all signers to such petitions shall be verified by the signers, which affidavit shall contain a statement of the number of the signers of such petition and shall state that each of the signatures attached to such part was made in the presence of the affiant, that to the best of his knowledge and belief each signature on such part is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be, that he believes the persons who have signed it to be electors, that they so signed said petition with knowledge and consent thereof, that each signer signed the same on the date stated opposite his name, and no other affidavit thereto shall be required. The petition and signatures upon such petitions, so verified, shall be presumed to be valid and shall be accepted for the filing of additional signatures to such petition. No law or amendment to the constitution shall be submitted to the electors by initiative and supplementary petition and receiving an affirmative majority of the valid cast thereon shall be held unconstitutional or void on account of the insufficiency of the petitions by which such petition was presented; nor shall the rejection of any law submitted by referendum petition be held invalid for such insufficiency. Upon an initiative, supplementary and referendum petitions provided for in any of the sections of this article, it shall be necessary to file from each of one-half of the counties of the state, petitions bearing the signatures of not less than one-half of the designated percentage of the electors of such county. A true copy of all laws or proposed laws or proposed amendments to the constitution, together with an argument or explanation, or both, for, and also against the same, shall be prepared. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, against any law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, may be named in such petition and persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for any proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution may be named in the petition proposing the same. The person or persons who prepare the argument or explanation, or both, for the law, section or item, submitted to the electors by referendum petition, or against any proposed law or proposed amendment to the constitution, shall be named by the general assembly, if in session, and if not in session, by the governor. The law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, together with the arguments and explanations, or both, exceeding a total of three hundred words for each, and also the arguments and explanations, or both, exceeding a total of three hundred words against each, shall be published once a week for five consecutive weeks preceding the election, in at least one newspaper of general circulation in each county of the state, where a newspaper is published. Unless otherwise provided by law, the secretary of state shall cause to be placed upon the ballots, the title of any such law, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution, to be submitted. He shall also cause the ballots so to be printed as to permit an affirmative or negative vote upon each law, section of law, or item in a law appropriating money, or proposed law, or proposed amendment to the constitution. The style of all laws submitted by initiative and supplementary petition shall be: "Be it Enacted by the People of the State of Ohio, and of all constitutional amendments: Resolved by the People of the State of Ohio: The basis upon which the required number of petitioners in any case shall be determined shall be the total number of votes cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election thereto. The foregoing provisions of this section shall be self-executing, except as herein otherwise provided. Law may be passed to facilitate their operation, but in no way limiting or restricting either such provisions or the powers herein reserved."

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL
If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1972, and existing section 1g of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.
